IT'S OPEN FOR BUSINESS!

Saturday 12th September 2015 was a very special day for Over Haddon. Not only was it our annual village show but it was also the day we opened the village playground!

In 1944 village residents set up the Over Haddon Village Hall and Playing Field Committee for this very purpose - 71 years later this dream has been realised with a wonderful new children's playground, providing enjoyment for present and future generations of village children.

Many discussions were had regarding who should be asked to cut the ribbon and open the playground. Eventually we all agreed-who better than the children of the village. To that end the winning team of the afternoon games, organised as usual by Steve Miller and his trusty whistle, were asked to do the honours - step forward the 'Dream Team', immediately followed by all the village children! (a swarm of locusts comes to mind!) Fearlessly they climbed, jumped, swung and hung off the equipment! A lovely sight to behold! The playground is a real tribute to all the hard work and dedication of the village hall management committee with excellent support and generosity from the village, both financially and practically. We also received donations from many local businesses, and grants from Derbyshire Dales District Council, Derbyshire County Council, the Big Lottery Fund, The Garfield Weston Foundation, The Bernard Sunley Charitable Foundation, and most recently the Cooperative Society. A permanent sign is to be erected in the playground listing all those who contributed funds to the appeal.

A special mention must also be given to Jeff Sheldon, builder extraordinaire, who has worked hard to make the playground an attractive and lovely area in which to play and sit.

Village Show 2015

Well, after an extremely wet start, everything turned out fine! We did wonder whether there would even be a show as it seemed unlikely that folks would be prepared to venture out in the torrential rain. Thankfully, Over Haddon residents are more resilient than that, and by the time the blue sky appeared around 12 there was quite an impressive array of entries.

The judge for Section B was definitely impressed. She said, 'The standard was really excellent. In particular the delicious jam and the fabulous Victoria Sandwich cakes.'

We still, however, need more entries in Section A - yet again, it was Patrick who saved the day. There were some amazing photographs in Section K, and lovely drawings, Lego models and decorated biscuits in the children's sections.

This year's winners were:

Pre school prize - Leo Pocock

Under 10s prize - Charlie Gould

Over 10s prize - Finn Hendry

Junior Cup - Finn Hendry

Section A prize - Pat Thurlby

Sections B,C & E prize - Jill Beckett

Section K prize - Christine Chresta

Limerick - Jen Foxon

W.I. Cup - Martin Chresta

Joseph Oldfield Cup - Pat Thurlby

Many congratulations to all the prize winners, and also thanks and very well done to everyone who took the time and trouble to enter - without you there wouldn't be a show.

A big thank you to all the judges, to Patrick for his persuasive patter in the auction, which raised over £200 for village hall funds, to Steve for organising the children's games, to the tea and cake servers, the stewards and tombola runners, and everyone else who worked so hard to make the day so successful.

St Anne's Church

As we move into the Autumn season it is worth just looking back at some of the church events of the last few months before looking ahead towards the end of the year.

We held the Patronal Festival – St Anne's Day – on the 26th of July, when the vicar held a “Songs of Praise” at 6pm at the church, in celebration of our patron saint. It was unfortunate that several people – me included – were away for that occasion, but it seems that only one person from the village attended church that evening. (There were others, from outside the village). It has been said that, whereas regular Sunday services have seen very small numbers of Over Haddon residents for some time, the “special festivals” throughout the year are better attended. However, the Harvest Festival service, on the 27th of September, also attracted few villagers. This certainly used to be a much more popular service with locals, including the farming community from around about. But times change, as does the population. Perhaps it is the case that people have become more disengaged from nature and the seasons? Or maybe it is just that people have become more disengaged from the Church?

Either way, it is difficult to see St Anne's church remaining open for long without more active local support.

I am not just indulging in hand-wringing about this. There is no point. Times change. Things move on and we are where we are. Anyway, there are also some positives. The church looked beautiful for the Harvest Festival and the flowers continued to look good well into October. The harvest gifts – four shopping bags full – were taken to the parish church to be sent to the Food Bank in Buxton. So many thanks to all who contributed to both flowers and gifts.

Meanwhile we look forward to November and December. There will continue to be services at 10am on the first and fourth Sundays of the month, with other clergy and lay readers helping out whilst Peter recovers from his knee operation. There will also be a Remembrance Day service at the war memorial at 10.50 on Sunday 8th November and a Carol Service at 6pm on Sunday 20th December. I shall be making my customary request for readers, but not yet! And, of course, there will be a Christmas Day morning service at 10am on Friday 25th December.

Looking still further ahead there is a small cloud hanging on the horizon.....back in August we had a survey of the church and churchyard by Smith and Roper, the Bakewell firm of architects, for the Quinquennial Review which each church is obliged to hold and they have just produced their report. It is an excellent document, clear and interesting, but it contains two pages of recommendations for work that needs doing, divided into “urgent,” “within the next 18 months,” “within the next five years” and “beyond five years.” Clearly, we need to get on with the first two categories at least, if we can afford to do so and, bearing in mind what I said above, if we really do want the church (and churchyard) to remain in “good working order.” Do we?

PARISH COUNCIL NEWS

At present, Helen Foreman has agreed to continue in her role as Parish Clerk until such time a new clerk can be appointed. Two applicants have applied for the post and interviews will be held shortly. Your Parish Councillors are Dick Foxon (chair), Penny Aitken (vice chair), Roger Truscott (Village Hall rep) and newly co-opted councillor Kay Staniforth. A vacancy is still there for one more councillor -please speak to the clerk or any councillor if you would like to know more.

Parish Council meetings are currently bi-monthly. The next meeting will be on Monday December 7, 8pm. The agenda will be posted in the notice board in Main Street.

A short time is allocated at the beginning of each meeting for issues and comments from the public. All villagers are welcome to sit in at meetings, but can take no part in the meeting.

New indoor bowls mat

The memory of Ernest Welham lives on at the village hall—as a result of his bequest to the Indoor Bowls Group a new bowls mat and cradle have been ordered. The bowls group normally meets on most Mondays between October and April, at 7.30pm. This is a very informal evening, no 'leagues' or competitions.

As soon as our new mat arrives we will have a free open evening ...look out for notices and pop along and have a go...you might like it!

I REMEMBER

I remember that as kids we never had a play area consequently the whole of Lathkill Dale was where we spent a lot of our time. I remember that just after the war the Army held an exercise in Lathkill Dale and we were all advised to stay away. When the exercise was over we returned to our "play area" roaming about the whole Dale and in the dam just Over Haddon side of Carters Mill (I can't remember its name, Alzheimer's ?)

We discovered a lot of .303 bullets. They had been left by the Army in the dam by the dam wall. Now of course these were of great interest to us and we endeavoured to retrieve them. As none of us could swim we lowered ourselves down the dam wall almost up to our necks in water and gripped the cartridges one at a time with our toes. This method proved to be very successful and we retrieved about 24 bullets. There were 4 of us and we had about 6 each. In our tiny minds we now had the problem as to where to keep them without our parents finding out. At the time I lived at South View, where Dick and Jen now live, and in the back yard was an old stone shed with no roof so I hid mine in the rubble wall and forgot about them.

Ten years later I joined the RAF and five years after that whilst in Cyprus two large Military Policemen 'invited' me to join them in the Adjutants Office and explain how 6 items (Bullets) of military property were found in a house in Over Haddon, which was my address. It appears that alterations were being made to South View and the builders found the bullets and took them to the police. As night follows day procedures were followed which nearly ended up with my arrest. Fortunately they believed the above and no further action was taken. It is just an example of how your past can catch up with you.

MY BRILLIANT DIVORCE

by Geraldine Aron

The Library Theatre Company
Village Hall, Saturday November 21

This achingly funny and poignant play will touch the heart of anyone who has ever been loved. When Angela Lipsky's husband has a mid-life crisis affair, she finds herself adrift in a sea of shifty solicitors, helpline counsellors, a disapproving mother and Christmas all on her own...

Bizarre dates, suspect purchases, a near reconciliation with the ex, and a singles 'away weekend' that brings about a surprise meeting and maybe some hope.

Packed with amusing anecdotes, devastatingly honest and hugely empathic, this brilliantly observed play has 'Angela' attempting to find a new life when husband Max leaves her for a younger woman (Rosa – a Mexican with big hair who barely speaks English!).

My Brilliant Divorce was nominated for 'Best Entertainment' at the Olivier Awards after playing a sell-out season in the West End.

PAT'S BIG QUIZ

VILLAGE HALL, SATURDAY DECEMBER 5, 7.30 for 8pm

Once again, Pat Thurlby's quiz will have us puzzling, groaning and laughing as he bamboozles us with his very clever questions. This is a fun evening, and everyone is welcome to join in. Teams of up to 4 people (don't worry if you're on your own, we'll fit you in with some friendly faces ) The bar will be open. Doors 7.30 for 8pm start. Cost is just £5 per person, schoolchildren free. Xmas snacks will be provided, so to help with catering please confirm your attendance with Jen or Jill, phone numbers as above.

BONFIRE NIGHT & FIREWORKS Saturday 7th November 2015

Bonfire lit at 7pm, Fireworks 7.30pm ( field to the east of the Lathkil Hotel )

Willing hands needed to help move bonfire materials and/or to help build the bonfire. Meet at 10am at the Chresta's garage, Main St. or join in at the site later in the day. If you live in the village and have any bonfire material you would like collecting please call 812133 before 12 noon on bonfire day.
(Sorry, we cannot take cardboard, metal, mattresses or other toxic materials)

ALSO help would be appreciated on Sunday 8th to clear the site. Meet at 11.30am on the site.

**SAFETY REGULATION: PLEASE DO NOT BRING YOUR OWN FIREWORKS ****

Collections this year will go towards the planned village defibrillator

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH, AND THE OIL TREE

Over Haddon residents benefit from both an Oil Syndicate and a Neighbourhood Watch scheme.

Many of us enjoy savings on our oil bills by ordering in bulk with neighbours and obtaining discounts on deliveries.

Subscribing to Neighbourhood Watch enables us to utilise a telephone tree in order to quickly pass on security information.

If you would like more info, please contact Dick, 812133

THE VILLAGE COMMUNITY PROJECT

HARVEST SUPPER, Oct 19th 2015

The Harvest Supper is a traditional community event that has not been seen on the Over Haddon calendar for a number of years. However, this year the village hall was packed for the second year running for a family Harvest Supper. Farmers, families and villagers enjoyed a splendid supper of stew and dumplings supplied by The Lathkil Hotel, and a variety of puddings and cheeses were shared by the community. Prizes were on offer at the tombola, and a quiz was organised by Bob Osborn.

Thanks to the Community Project for making the evening such a success.

Over Haddon Wassailing Monday 21st December 2015

Join us in singing carols led by the 'Helen Thurlby and Friends Band', followed by Turkey and stuffing cobs and Mince Pies at the VILLAGE HALL, from 7.30pm.

If you wish to join this Christmas Cheer, please contact Alice Grigor-Taylor 812501, Ian Osborn 07921069499, Pat Thurlby 813043, Helen Foreman 814887, Rev Peter Davis 07552237061, Rachel and Daniel Rhodes 812416.

Bakewell Christmas Tree Festival 2015

The Christmas Tree Festival, launched in 2009, is again being held at Bakewell Parish Church between 10 and 20 December 2015. It was and has become an extremely popular event with local organisations expecting it to take place annually. Local charities, societies, schools, church groups and businesses will be decorating a tree in a way that reflects what they represent. Some will be traditional, some quirky, but all will be unique.

100 trees were on display last year and it is likely that there will be as many, if not more, this year. The festival will begin with a short service at 7pm on Thursday, December 10 and will then be open daily from 10am to 5pm, 12 noon to 5pm on Sunday. There will be late night opening until 8.30pm on Thursday 17, with mulled wine and fruit juice being served. There will be events during the 10 days including the Sheffield Folk Chorale on Friday 11 and Messiah choruses and carols on Tuesday 15.

Additional events will be advertised in the local press nearer to the time. The festival will end with a community carol service at 6pm on Sunday 20 December.

The church's Open Door café will be open from 11am to 4pm daily, serving coffee, tea, light lunches and afternoon teas.

Entry is free, but donations for the church's repair fund would be welcomed.

PART ONE OF AN INTERVIEW BETWEEN MIKE HUTTON AND LOCAL LADS

SAM AND ED HAMER,

PUBLISHED IN THE OCTOBER 2015 EDITION OF "CLIMB" MAGAZINE

When and where did you climb your first proper route together? How was the experience and how old were you both.?

Sam: The first proper routes I remember doing together was back in 2005 when I led my first trad route, Croton Oil (HVS) up at Rivelin edge. Up to that point we had been doing a lot of climbing indoors and seconding routes with my dad but that was a real changing point. Within a year I had onsighted E4.

Were your Mum and Dad active climbers during your early childhood days?

Ed: Since we were very young we've been heading into the mountains on family trips. Parents are both very keen walkers and have done numerous big mountains and overland treks together. My dad's always been a keen climber too with first ascents to his name on the granite cliffs in Zimbabwe.

Rumour has it a distant relative of yours was pretty famous in the mountaineering world, could you enlighten us?

Sam: Not famous but Grandma Mollie Hamer (née Caven) was one of the few female rock climbers active in the 1940-50s. She climbed with Chris Preston and Dickie Morsley in North Wales during WW2. Grandpa Dan was a good rock climber too. They did the Matterhorn together in 1949. They were both longstanding LC&CC and F&RCC members.

I heard some top South African climbers came to stay with you whilst you were living in Mali. How did this pan out and how did it influence your climbing?

Sam: Our Dad met and climbed with Andy De Klerk and Ed February in Zimbabwe in the early 1990s. During Christmas 1997, Ed & Andy arrived in Mali, where we were living at the time, and headed for the Hand of Fatima with a group of North American climbers – Todd Skinner, Bobby Model, Scott Milton, Peter Mallamo, Bill Hatcher and Paul Piana. They stayed with us in Bamako and my Dad helped them with transport. They gave a really inspiring talk at the International School and erected their portaledge on the outside of Sam's classroom wall! Andy grazed his ankle climbing Harmattan Rodeo, a 14 pitch 5.13a, and it got baldy infected. He convalesced with us at our house in Bamako. The day Andy and Ed left to go bouldering in Morocco, Ed stood on one of Sam's fishing hooks stuck in the carpet and had to have it surgically removed!

Would you ever go back and live in South Africa if the opportunity arose?

Sam: We'd go back again to climb – but probably not to live. Its a beautiful country with great people and the climbing's out of this world! We'd also love to climb in Zimbabwe where Ed was born. Our Dad was pretty active there in the early 1990s and he put up several new routes on the granite ngomas.

WHAT WAS THAT SMELL?

“On the 9th of August the Environment Agency was made aware, via the local river keepers, of an issue at Over Haddon with the main sewer. The rising main ( pressurised foul sewer) runs for 3 miles from the Monyash pumping station to Over Haddon and then on to Alport, with numerous manholes along the way. On this occasion a smell had been noticed in a particular area and on closer inspection foul water was leaving the manhole and travelling down the side of the dale towards the river. The Environment Agency were notified and contacted Severn Trent Water who sent out a team to assess and remediate the problem which was a blockage in the sewer.

Further investigations have found that some of the manhole chambers are in need of repair and this will be carried out by Severn Trent. The Environment Agency also met with Severn Trent on site to discuss the importance of Lathkill Dale, the need for rapid response and how the geology in the area means pollution can enter water unseen underground. The river keepers, villagers and visitors to Over Haddon are important in alerting the Environment Agency to pollution and the potential for pollution to occur.

This can be done by calling the Incident Hotline 0800 80 70 60, the sorts of incidents we deal with are pollutions for example oil, sewage and chemicals, low water levels, fish disease or distress. The River Keepers keep the Agency informed regarding the low flows that are experienced on the River Lathkill but any other issues should be reported to the Environment Agency, these could be discolouration of the water, odours such as oil, sewage or diesel, fish gasping at the surface of the water or looking distressed. By acting early the Environment Agency hopes to limit any impact a pollution event may have on a watercourse.”

Jenny Phillips, Environment Agency

White Peak Rivers Project

There will be a public meeting of the Bakewell and District Civic Society at 2.30pm on Friday the 13th November at the Friends Meeting House in Bakewell about the White Peak Rivers Project. The speaker will be Warren Slaney, Head Rivers Warden for Haddon Estates. The project is an attempt to restore the flow of some local rivers, notably the River Lathkil, which have been damaged or diverted by earlier mining activities.

We, in Over Haddon, have been used to the annual disappearance of the River Lathkil, above the Lodge, sometimes for long periods, since 1974, when a sough, draining the upper, underground, drainage of the river was unblocked, allowing it to flow into the Wye above Ashford. What fewer of us are aware of is that the flow of the river in the dale below Over Haddon was disrupted earlier, during the 1890's, by the Lathkil sough. Before then the river flowed unimpeded for most of each year, only drying up above the Lodge during exceptionally dry spells.

The Lathkil is unusual in that it is the largest river in the Peak District whose catchment area lies entirely within the White Peak; that is, the land underlain by Carboniferous Limestone. The significance of this is threefold:

The rainwater that drains into it passes through beds of limestone, which effectively filters off most impurities, making it unusually clean. In fact it is classed as one of the cleanest “main rivers” in the country.

The flow of the river is mainly derived from the limestone aquifer, which remains at a constant, fairly low temperature throughout the year - you will have noticed this if you have ever fallen in or taken a dip!- which means that the dissolved oxygen contact is unusually high, which in turn means that the river can support more life – plant and animal – than most rivers.

The catchment area contains very few sources of effluent – apart from a leaky sewage pipe near Dale Road.....- and because most of the dale is wooded there is even very little chance of cow manure entering it, enhancing still further its purity.

It would be extremely beneficial, therefore, to see the Lathkil restored to its natural, higher and more constant flow. The talk will, I think, be very interesting to the people of this village, and to anyone who loves the River Lathkil.

Sunday 26 July 2015 – St Anne’s Day

I am sure that the mathematically inclined of those reading this will know how frequently St Anne’s Day falls on the Sabbath – all I can say is that this year it did!

Signs were put up around the village and notice given by Roger in ‘The Voice’ concerning the 2 services arranged for this special day.

I was away that weekend but came back in order to attend ‘Songs of Praise’ in the evening as the message in ‘The Voice’ (July 2015 issue) and the notices around the village announcing the 2 services seemed to stress the importance of this day. I had had pressure put on me to submit an article for ‘The Voice’ so that the July edition could be circulated in good time prior to St Anne’s day.

The organist from Bakewell was in fine form, as were the 6 ladies in the choir. The church was decorated with flowers and candles but decorated with a very sparse congregation. I was the only person in attendance from the Village, and the rest – 7 persons in total, were (I presume) from Bakewell.

Tony Kaunhoven gave the address explaining that St Anne was the grandmother of Jesus and talking of the importance of grandparents especially in modern day life. He ended the address with a very stark warning about St Anne’s Church in Over Haddon – he said that there was no purpose in people from the village saying that they want a church when in fact it is generally only well attended for weddings, funerals and such as the Carol Service at Christmas. His message was that if Over Haddon wants the church to remain open, then there must be a good and regular attendance.

I am of course aware that some people who do attend the church services regularly were away on that day, but this would still have been a very small congregation. Equally, although I could not have been at the morning service, I am as culpable as others in not attending St Anne’s on a regular basis. I do not know how many people were at the morning service, but Peter said that there were not many and he did not know if any were from the village.

A big effort was made by the people taking part in the service – Tony, the choir, the organist and those in the congregation from Bakewell. A big effort had been made to decorate the church.

As I said above, I admit that I am not a regular church attendee. I know from past memories that it is said that one can worship in the hills and dales. I know also that the weather was not brilliant – I could describe it as ‘liquid sunshine’. However if it is important to you that the church remains open and in use, then there must be greater regular attendance – Tony Kaunhoven gave the warning and I heard that warning. Tragic as it is, churches have been and are being closed around this country for this very reason – lack of attendance.
